

volume 1
patron saints and
guardian angels

bondaries

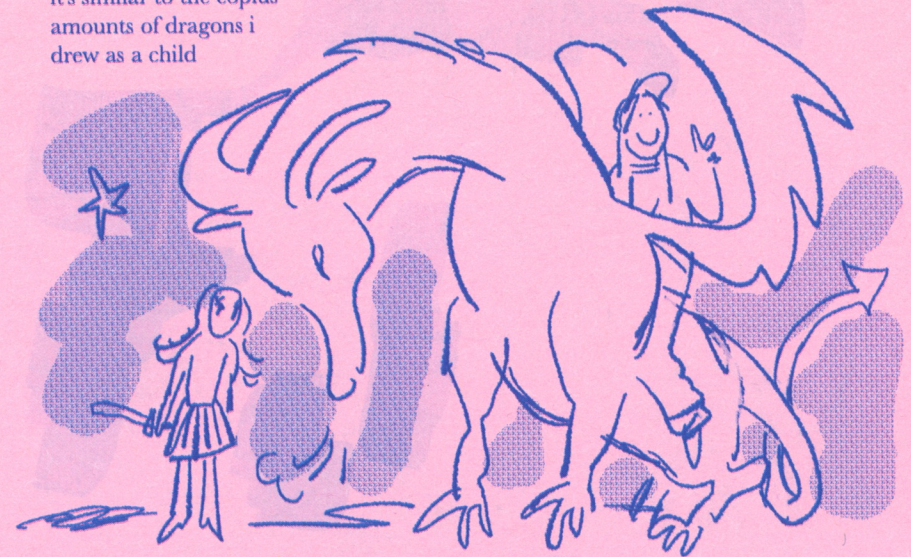

in late 2022 after
watching the terror (2018)
for the first time, i got into the habit of drawing poorly constructed self-
insert content

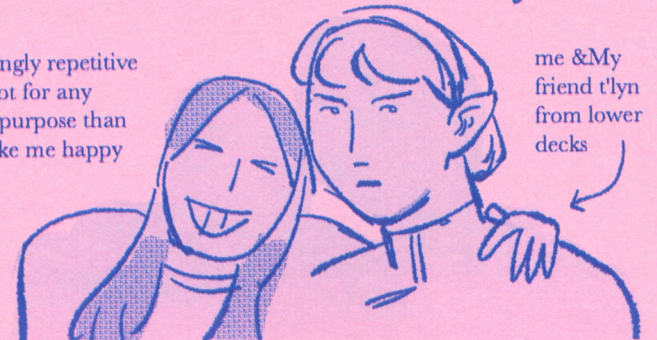

it became very
meditative to me

it's similar to the copius amounts of dragons i
drew as a child

soothingly repetitive
and not for any
other purpose than
to make me happy

me & My
friend t'lyn
from lower
decks

it's also easier to connect with characters than it is with actual people my age.

you will become a projection of my joy okay

peregrine (my character)

normal stuff don't worry about it oh cool what am i a projection of how i have been systemically failed by various institutions (both theoretical and concrete)

tochin

ok ♥

yay

now these are characters i made myself but any character can be used in this form. imaginary friends for when the going gets rough in fact it is imperative that you project onto characters whenever possible

beam of autism

i would sometimes do these big ones and now i realize they look like pantheons of patron saints or guardian angels or whatever you'd like to call them of course, my interests wax and wane and very few characters stick around for a period longer than a couple of weeks or months at most.

but a few have left indelible marks on my personality & life generally the most lasting/strongest influences in my life include:

cynthia (mitm): patron saint of cranky autistic people & t'lyn: patron saint of data driven scientists everywhere

baru cormorant:
patron saint of
devious schemers

she's a genius. she's conniving.
she's a fail daughter (or is she).
she can't empathize enough with people to account for them in her schemes. she tanks economies. bankers hate her.
workers love her. the universe hates her. her wisdom guides
my every move

my baru locket

i agree
indiscriminately with
every action she takes.
she can do no wrong
#to me

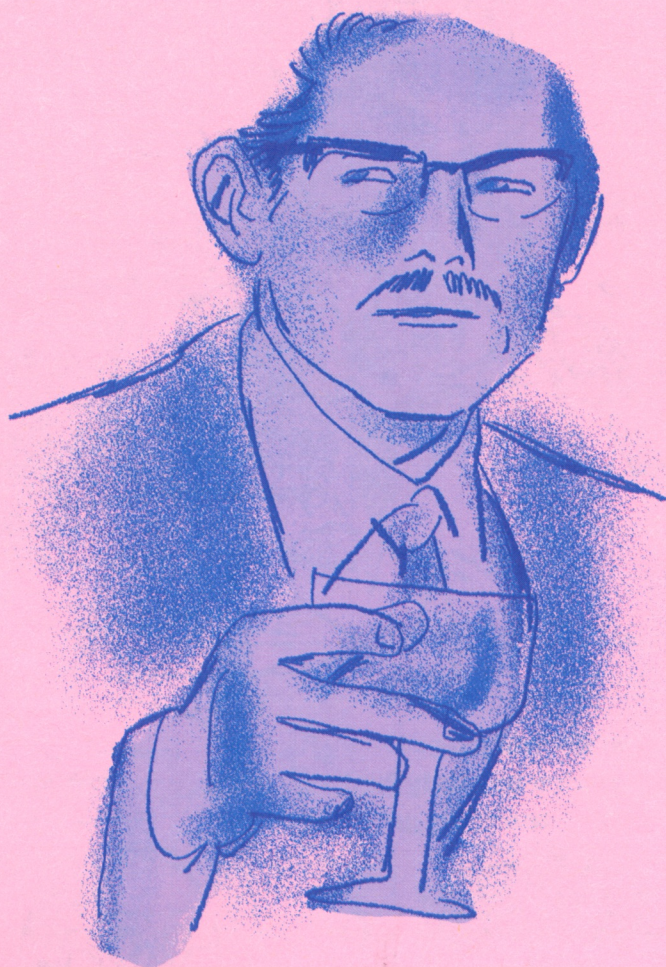

definitely learned the
wrong lesson from the
books

"I'm literally her"
so close! you're actually just an awkward teenage girl.

i need to be her you just don't get it

angus mccain:
patron saint of
being blackmailed

HOW IT FEELS TO WATCH ANY EPISODE OF
THE HOUR (2011)

cannot believe ive fallen into the clutches of yet another weird british guy #saveme where was he in middle school when i was enacting psychological warfare on my enemies?

guy whose brain is being rewired
by having multiple overwhelming interests and being on break at the same time

for historical
reference

media referenced (in order of appearance):

1. star trek: lower decks
2. my own ocs
3. malcolm in the middle
4. see 1
5. the traitor baru cormorant
6. the hour
7. various including the mandalorian,
pacific rim, the terror, the murderbot diaries, the swarm, the bear, mythic quest